FIGHTING GAME DEAD

NO MORE PUGILISTIC ENCOUNTERS IN CITY.

PROVED BY FRIDAY'S FIASCO

Boxing Fans Will Now Journey from City to Witness Exhibitions—Boxing Enthusiasts Declare the Lid Is on Good and Tight.

That there will be nothing doing in the way of pugilistic encounters in this city for a time at least was proven Friday night when the scheduled bout between Young Lavigne and Eternod was stopped before it even started by the police. The only ray of hope that the local fistic colony has of living without resorting to coarse, tiring and otherwise undesirable work is that cities near the capital will take up the game. Already there is a bout between the Alabama Kid and Kid Lavigne scheduled for Toluca on November 22. Should this bout prove to be any sort of a drawing card it is likely that other bouts, at the rate of one a month, will follow, but before other bouts are arranged for the capital of the state of Mexico the promoters will see how they fare next Sunday.

Governor Landa y Escandon plainly stated in an interview printed in The Mexican Herald a short time ago that he would not permit any more fights in the district, although sparring exhibitions would be tolerated as long as they really were exhibitions. The governor made it plain that in his judgment there was a great difference between prize fights and exhibitions.

The attempt of Friday night to pull off a twenty-round exhibition demonstrated that the game is dead here, and as none of he local promoters or boxers wishes to clash with the authorities, it can be set down with assurance that there will be no more attempts o bring off fights in the Federal District.

Salvador Esperon said yesterday that the report that he was the manager of Friday night's fizzle is erroneous. Esperon said that he had merely arranged the program at the request of the management of the theater.

"I told you so," was the general expression heard among fight fanciers about town yesterday, when questioned as to the failure of the Friday night show to come off.

Fred L. Hanscom, who did more to bring the boxing game from the scrap iron heap where it had reposed for some time, but who resigned from active management before the game reached the "lemon" stage, said that those foolish enough to give no heed to the statement of the authorities could count themselves fortunate in escaping serious trouble. "Besides," concluded Hanscom, "what could they expect? It was Friday, and the thirteenth, too. That in itself is enough to bring bad luck to everybody connected with the affair."

Others who were always at the ringside in the halcyon days of the Pleasure Athletic club, when asked for an opinion as to the death and interment of boxing in the district, expressed themselves in characteristic terms. Some of the observations were:

T. Patrick Grady—"I knew it would be a case of a slow walk behind something called boxing with muffled drums thumping 'The Dead March' in Saul. In other words, thence by street cars to Dolores.'"

Ed. Van Leunen—"As long as the automobile business is brisk, I can't spare time to weep. Besides, the altitude is too high."

J. Mike Walsh—"They should cut out the rough stuff before they take a trip to the Behave Foundry called Belem."

Dick Osmers—"Young Lavigne vs. Eternod! That's enough to bring out the police."

Willie Shea—"It's 'Here's your hat—what's your hurry?' Some of these apprentice promoters better behave themselves."

Kid Lavigne—"As long as lots of folks want to take boxing lessons, I don't care. Besides, Toluca isn't very far."

Joe Reveles—"As long as they don't close up the theaters and will leave me my clog shoes, it's all right."

E. Booth Aguilar—"Guess, I'll continue to act out before the people. Grease paint feels better on the face than boxing gloves, at that."

The Spanish Kid—"I'm so happy. Now they can't ask me to take a chance of getting hit on the nose."

Jim Smith—Who's going to settle for those chickens that were stolen from me?"

CHAMPION CHECKER PLAYER.

Chas F. Backer of Boston Given Title and Purse.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—Charles Francis Barker of Boston is the champion checker player of America. Friday night Dr. Drouillard, of Kansas City, the only serious contender for the championship title, who has met the Boston expert in several years, admitted himself hopelessly beaten in the series of games for the title. He resigned the match and $2,000 purse. The final score was ten games to two in the champion's favor, with thirty-one games drawn.

VANZANDT WINS TROPHY AFTER TYING CUMMINGS

One clean, well made goal in the early part of the second half made the Pachuca team the winner of the game with the British team yesterday in the football game on the Reforma club grounds.

The game was very interesting and filled with the kind of close plays that bring spectators to their feet. A large crowd saw the contest. Practically the entire game was played on the Pachuca team's territory and this team's goal seemed in danger almost the entire game. The British club players seemed to have the more confidence and aggresiveness. They would take the ball close to the goal and then by some misplay get it off side or give a Pachuca player an opportunity to kick it easily into a safe place. It seemed that nearly every time the ball was well started toward a goal and the intervening space almost clear there was a lack of team work to put the play through.

Several times British players apparently made a goal but it was off side and did not count. What was lacking in team work was more than made up by excellent plays by individuals. Both teams were lacking some of their best men.

The line-ups follow:

British—A. A. Russell, goal; P. C. Clifford, fullback; L. Parr, fullback; H. J. Alexander, right halfback; R. D. Robinson, H. W. Whitemore, M. M. Machlachlan, A. M. Wallace and A. E. Parr, forwards.

Referee—A. E. Collyer.

Linesmen—Harry Rule and E. S. Turner.

PACHUCA TAKES GAME FROM BRITISH ELEVEN

In the golf handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, for the Mohler and DeGress trophy, which was held at the Country club yesterday morning, the first round ended in a tie between C. E. Cummings and K. M. VanZandt, Jr., both scratch men. Each finished with a score of 81. It was decided that these two should play off the tie in the afternoon, and after some good golf by both, VanZandt finally won the excellent score of 81, while Cummings fell off from his morning's game and scored 93.

Nine pairs were entered for the play, but in the morning when the entries were closed, but six pairs went out on the links.

Taken as a whole, some good scores were made, although several of the players were not quite up to their usual game.

The scores of the entrants in the play were as follows:

| Players and handicaps | Total. | Net Sc |
|---|---|---|
| Zoeller (12) | 95 | 85 |
| W. S. Bland (12) | 104 | 92 |
| D. F. Bucher (7) | 98 | 91 |

TOMMY BURNS WILL RETURN FINANCIAL KING OF PUGILISTS

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Tommy Burns will wind up the year of foreign travel and fighting in Australia with three times more money made in that time than was made by the President of the United States in salary. It is estimated that his twelve months of effort and travel will net him more than $150,000. The latest information about Tommy and his doings comes from a sea captain commanding a large American passenger steamer that touched recently at Sydney, who writes some interesting comment on the American fighter. This is in a personal letter to a friend here:

"Tommy Burns has been making quite a nice pile out in Australia, what with Squires and Lang, and friends of mine who saw the Squires fight say that Burns could easily have knocked him out in two rounds, but finding that he had an easy thing on he took his time, knocked him out a little later, and earned a $5,000 note from the cinematograph company. Burns is resting up in the mountains here. He has made a great impression with every one by his clean and neat habits and appearance and manners, earning the title of 'a gentleman,' which is certainly praiseworthy."

Speaking of a big boxing show he saw in Melbourne, the captain comments on the Australian mitt artists: "The boxers were, of course, a long way behind your boys, and it seemed to me wanted some good teaching. They do not break clean away, and rarely attempt any punches other than about the face—don't seem to know in the least about body and kidney punches."

So Tommy picked up an extra $5,000 from the moving picture people. And no doubt he'll get at least $15,000 from the moving pictures of the Johnson fight. While Johnson sold his end of the picture privileges for $500, Burns wisely held tight to a royalty. Adding this $20,000 to his other ring, stage picture, and wager earnings for the year, Tommy Burns will wind the season up $153,000 to the good—and a little more if he takes a theatrical engagement or two after the big fight. This makes him easily the financial king of all boxers. Not even the great John L. Sullivan, who was, and still is, a wonderful success at money making, can class with him. Jeffries never made as much money as Burns, although he was probably the greatest heavyweight that ever wore gloves.

M'VEY WINS BY KNOCKOUT

California Negro Victor Over Synnott In Paris.

Associated Press Special Cable.

Paris, Nov. 15.—A vast crowd filled the Montmartre hippodrome last night on the occasion of the inauguration of a series of international boxing matches. The star attraction was a twenty-round bout between Sam McVey of California, and Herbert Synnott, of Australia. The bout went only five rounds, McVey having all the better of it and knocking out his man before the bell rang in the fifth.

Jim Stayles, of England, knocked out Bill Chester of South Africa, in the third round, and Jimmy Caine, of America, defeated "Kid" Davis, the lightweight champion of France, in ten rounds.

TENNIS TOURNEY OFF.

Not Enough Entries for Scheduled Doubles.

Owing to the fact that few pairs entered the tennis tournament to establish permanent positions, scheduled to take place on the Country club courts, it was decided to call the tourney off. Four teams entered, after the tournament had been postponed from November 8 to yesterday, and one of these teams failed to appear at the club, consequently it was decided to call the proposed matches off until there is more interest in lawn tennis.

PARIS AROUSED BY BETTING

Minister Asks For More Stringent Supervision at Races.

Associated Press Dispatch.

Paris, Nov. 15.—According to the figures of the minister of agriculture, just published, $62,776,180 were wagered on the horse races in France last year. Since 1891 when bookmaking was suppressed and mutual betting inaugurated, the exact amount wagered is of official record, as 4 per cent of the gross receipts are turned over to the state for public charity and the encouragement of breeding.

Last year this 4 per cent amounted to $2,531,067. Of course clandestine bookmaking among the big bettors still goes on and the minister complains that it is on the increase, as the figures for the first seven months of the current year already show a decrease of $3,350,000 in parimutual receipts. He asks for more stringent legislation to prevent illegal betting.

BANKERS DEFEATED.

Cosmopolitans Again Win in Y. M. C. A. Tournament.

Saturday night the Bankers went down in defeat before the ever victorious Cosmopolitans in the local Y. M. C. A. bowling tournament. The Bankers were crippled by the absence of two of their strongest rollers from the city and were forced to roll one man short, but they never had the ghost of a show and were beaten about a hundred pins in each of the three games. W. B. Gillispie, of the Cosmopolitans was the star bowler of the evening, making 210 and 201 in two of his games and securing a total of 579 for the three games. M. J. Luna of the same team made 519.

The attendance at the game was the largest reported at any tournament game for many months. It was open night for the ladies and many were in evidence. All kinds of refreshments were served and the ladies took a hand in the bowling also. Mrs. H. J. Peters carried off the honors.

Points scored: Bankers, 0; Cosmopolitans, 4.

Next game this evening between the Mercantiles and the Zapateros.

"Cheer up, old man," said the consoling friend. "You know, love laughs at locksmiths."

"Yes, I know," replied the dejected lover. "But her father ain't a locksmith; he's a boilermaker."—Detroit Free Press.

GRANGERS WIN GAME

DEFEAT COUNTRY CLUB IN FAST CONTEST.

THE SCORE WAS 8 TO 7

Rallies by Both Teams and Game Was Marked by Hustling and Peppery Play—Mexico Swamped Tlalpam.

Standing of the Clubs.

| Clubs. | Played. | Won. | Lost. | P.C. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Grangers | 2 | 2 | 0 | 1,000 |
| Country Club | 2 | 1 | 1 | .500 |
| Mexicos | 2 | 1 | 1 | .500 |
| Tlalpam | 2 | 0 | 2 | .000 |

As confidently expected by the big crowd that assembled at the Country club's diamond yesterday afternoon, the game between the Grangers and the Country club was a close and exciting one, although it was not thought the score would be so big, despite the fact that the earliness of the season works against the players' putting up their best game. The curtain came down with the Grangers out holding eight tallies, while the Country club boys were one shy of that number. It was a ripping game from the start, and big rallies by both teams made it necessary to get the third man in the ninth inning before the suspense ended.

Another feature which contributed to the interest of the spectators was the "ginger" displayed by both teams. From the time the first ball was pitched it was a conversational jubilee indulged in by every player in the game. There were no arguments to amount to anything nor was any bad feeling evinced, but it seemed as if everybody in the game carted a scrapping grouch to the field with him and was determined to get rid of it a chunk at a time. Bobby Burns was unanimously given the title of "King Crab," but Jones, Meyers, Mickel, Wright and the rest of the crew were not far distanced by the aggressive captain of the Country club.

For a few innings it looked as if the Grangers were to win in clever fashion, but in the sixth they hopped onto Huebner's benders and when they ceased firing five runs had been piled up. Then, just to show the proper spirit of reciprocation, the Grangers fell on Echegaray and, placing some bingles where they would do the most good, took the lead again and held it till the cows came home and the light was placed in the window.

The fun started in the first round, when Jones was safe on first when Burns inserted a heave as the finish of a neat stop of Jones' grounder, the latter getting to second before E. Wright managed to find the ball over near the ropes. Meyers popped one up to Burns, and while Mickel was taking three healthy swings without coming into contact with anything but air, Jones sneaked into third. Jones took a good lead off third and got himself caught in a chase, but in tearing for the plate he bumped into Blanchard; causing the catcher to drop the ball, which permitted him to score the first run of the game. With one gone in the Country club's opening round, Burns peeled off a neat double, but was left at the middle sack, as Blanchard and E. Wright fozzled.

After Earney had been planted in the opening of the third Brown got himself in front of one of Echegaray's shoots and went to first. Jones slammed a hot single down the third base line and Meyers bounced a slow one down to third, which forced Brown out at that point. Then Ollie Mickel put a double out into center, which brought Jones and Meyer scurrying home.

The Country club waxed industrious in their half of this round, when after B. Wright had fanned, Olbert beat out a bunt down the third base line. Olbert pilfered second, and when Meyers dropped a third strike on Muench and heaved wildly to first, Bernie raced for the plate, just making it.

Batting in the Fourth.

Burns and his crew became highly familiar with the brand of slants Huebner served up in the fourth. Earney made a sensational stop and threw on E. Wright's grass-cutter, but Bell rammed a triple over center field. Dinkins whiffed, but Meyers dropped the third strike, and when he was getting Dinkins at first, Jimmy Hayes scampered home. Echegaray and B. Wright singled to left in rapid succession, but were left on bases, as Olbert struck out.

There was an explosion in the last of the sixth which shattered the windows for miles around. E. Wright started by singling through short. Bell continued a bingle to center and Dinkins fanned. Echegaray slammed a short one to right, scoring Wright, and when Godden, after getting hold of the ball, threw wild to Meyers, Bell tallied. Then Wright stole second. Olbert singled to center, tallying Echegaray, and putting Wright on third. Olbert and Wright essayed a double steal, and Meyers made a short throw to second. Lemm muffed the throw and Wright tallied, Olbert scoring on a fielder's choice, which put Muench out.

Granger's bunch perked up and took a little notice in the seventh and added one to their total. With one gone, Kelso singled to right and stole second. Godden went out via the Bell-Wright route and Earney lifted a high one to center. Olbert did a sun dance, and finally got under it, but his famous glove, which had been resting since last season, came in handy and the ball jumped out of his mitt, and Kelso scored.

Four in the Eighth.

It was in the eighth, however, when the Granger crowd did their best and put the game on their side of the book. Jones opened the performance by fanning, but Meyers whaled one into right. Mickel and Meyers were both safe on E. Wright's fielder's choice on the latter's bounder, and Huebner came to the surface with a drive through third, which scored Meyers. It was up to Lemm to keep things moving and he singled to right on a hit-and-run play, scoring Mickel. Kelso struck out, but a single through short by Godden brought in Huebner and Lemm. That made four and passed the game over to Granger's team. The score:

A free-for-all slugfest characterized the morning game between the Mexicos and Tlalpam, the Mexicos winning a tiresome game by the score of 14 to 4.

The Mexicos were shy two or three players and were compelled to go through the game with but eight players, right and left fielders guarding center between them. The Mexicos slugged Soria, at heart's content. Soria went into the box owing to the failure of Imeldo to appear, and all he had was a bunch of speed, to which the Mexicos sluggers took a great fancy. Ballares was fairly effective throughout, and the hits registered off him are accounted for by the fact that he let up after his teammates had taken a good lead. He had the youngsters at his mercy when he felt constrained to put on a little effort, and caused sixteen of them to fan—which is the season's record. Casas was a batting demon and hit the ball hard every time up, getting a home run and a pair of triples. He could have stretched one of these into a second homer, but he loafed on his way around and stopped at third. The game was with particular fielding features. The score:
