HUERTA ENTERTAINED BY TLALPAM SCHOOL

President Huerta was the guest of honor at a banquet given yesterday at Peña Pobre near Tlalpam by Colonel Gustavo Salas, director of the National Preparatory school in Tlalpam in honor of the students who had concluded their studies.

The dinner was served near the Peña Pobre paper factory. The tables were placed under a canopy that was decorated with festoons and garlands. The menu was composed of Mexican dishes.

Colonel Salas offered a toast to President Huerta in name of the students and professors of the military school. He said that he was highly pleased to inform the chief magistrate of the notable advancements made by the cadets during the closing term.

President Huerta answered, saying that when he entered the Tlalpam military school between the lines of cadets who accorded military honors to him, the thought came into his mind that many of these young students would be the men who will save the country in future. The chief magistrate continued recommending to the cadets to continue their military career with the same enthusiasm that they already have shown in order to serve their country, which is in great need of well trained officers.

Lic. Jose Maria Lozano, minister of communications also spoke. His toast dealt with the importance attached in other countries to the military career. He also recalled some anecdotes of the life of President Huerta, when he was a cadet at the Chapultepec military college.

Before the dinner President Huerta and the other guests visited the military school in Tlalpam. The cadets maneuvered before the chief magistrate showing the high grade of military instruction that they have received in the school.

Those who attended the dinner beside President Huerta, were: General Aurelio Blanquet, minister of war; Lic. Manuel Garza Aldape, minister of gobernacion; Lic. Jose Maria Lozano, minister of communications and public works; Lic. Ramon Corona, governor of the Federal District; General Javier de Moure, General Agustin Breton, chief of staff of the minister of war and many others.

NEW YORK DEPORTS 175 IN ONE DAY

New York, Nov. 3.—An unusual number of aliens were deported from the Ellis Island immigration station in one day, when 175 persons excluded as undesirables were placed on board ten outgoing steamships bound for Europe.

Many of the cases were those of diseased persons and several were women with families of young children.

GLACIER UPSETS BOUNDARY PLANS

Its Return to Former Position Prevents Canadian Outlets.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 3.—The unexpected return of a glacier at Glacier bay, on the Alaskan boundary, to its former haunt has upset the tentative negotiations between the Canadian and the United States authorities.

An outlet to the seas from Canadian territory north of Prince Rupert would have been provided and would have been of considerable benefit to Canadian interests back of the boundary strip had the negotiations proceeded.

The location was formerly occupied by the Grand Pacific glacier. This impediment removed itself some time ago, but just as arrangements were approaching completion the glacier returned and now constitutes an effectual barrier to the inlet.

PENSIONS FOR MANY MICHIGAN MOTHERS

Women Object to Wording of Relief Law, Which Suggests Charity

Detroit, Nov. 2.—Applications for relief under the new mother's pension law are pouring into the probate courts of Michigan and, from present indications, thousands of dollars will be expended by various counties the first year of its operation.

The law provides that women who are without means for the support of their children shall receive a sufficient sum from the counties in which they live, but no payment shall exceed $3 a week for each child. The act is intended to keep children under the care of their mothers, and was passed as a result of the efforts of club women and suffragists.

The sponsors of the measure are now objecting to the phrase: "Dependent on the public for support," which is contained in the statute, and an effort will be made before the next legislature to have the phrase eliminated.

CROWDS THRONG THE BOOTHS ON ALAMEDA

Many Toys Sold to Commemorate Feast of All Souls' Day.

The booths erected along the north and west sides of the Alameda drew large crowds all day yesterday and up to a late hour last night. A thriving business was done in the sale of toys of all kinds commemorative of All Souls' Day. Great quantities of "pan de muerto" and skulls, hearses, graves and weeping widows made of candy were also disposed of to the promenading throngs of men, women and children who visited the booths.

The booths of the Japanese vendors stand out strongly among the smaller booths of the native vendors. The Japanese have four large booths this year. One of these booths is devoted entirely to the sale of plants, while the other three have for sale almost everything to be found in the line of Japanese toys. The booths of the Japanese are better lighted and are more pretentious than those of the other vendors about the Alameda.

The Alameda walks in front of the booths have been pressed by many thousands of feet during the past three days. From the crowds that passed back and forth it would seem that the greater part of the population of the city had visited the neighborhood. The crowds appeared to be happy and intent only upon obtaining amusement gained by buying the little delicacies and trinkets displayed at the numerous booths. Today the booths will begin to disappear and by tomorrow night most of them will have gone. They will be back again for the Christmas posadas, which begin on December 16.

PASSING DAY

Librado and Francisco Morales, residents of the town of Topilejo, were brought to the city yesterday escorted by a detachment of federal troops under Lieutenants Manuel Gonzalez y Faustino Hernandez. It is said that these men are implicated in the Zapatista movement and are those who inform the rebels of the movements of the federal troops.

Fourteen rebels were killed in the San Jose ranch, near Urdaneo, Michoacan, in an engagement with the federal troops, under Lieutenant David Chavez, according to official reports received here. The rebels were commanded by the chieftains Delgado and Ortiz.

Juan W. Treviño, a Torreon merchant, was arrested by the city police on Sunday for alleged sedition. He is confined in the police headquarters, at the order of the minister of gobernacion.

Lic. Alejandro Garrido Noeggerat, director of El Noticiosi Mexicano, was released from custody by order of the judicial authorities on Sunday. The director had been arrested the previous day by the secret police for alleged complicity in a seditious movement.

All postmasters throughout the republic have been advised to send to the head office in this city a detailed report of the losses and damage to property caused by revolutionary acts. This report will state the amount of cash and postage stamps abstracted, the value of the furniture destroyed, etc., and the date on which these acts occurred.

A post office agency has been opened in Sabanillas, Chiapas.

The imports and exports for July last, as published by the department of hacienda, with the corresponding figures for the same term in the preceding year, are as follows: July 1913, imports, $14,592,180.85; exports, $19,825,387.57. July, 1912, imports, $14,115,489.90; exports, $25,317,200.01.

The department of fomento in future will not grant lumber concessions to anonymous companies, in order that they do not fall into the hands of foreigners, as possession by these is considered prejudicial to the interests of the country.

A third German cruiser, the Berlin, is reported to be on its way to Mexican waters. The department of foreign relations says no information has been rendered as to this particular vessel, but had been notified of the Bremen, now at Veracruz, and the Nuremburg, expected at Mazatlan.

A PLEASANT LANDING.

"It's rather lonely," said Noah as he stepped on the gangplank to leave the ark.

"Yes," replied his wife. "But think of what a relief it is not to be bothered by any customs officers."—Washington Star.

POINTING OUT A DEFECT.

"Say you think politics ought to be reformed."

"Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel. "What do you consider the chief defect of our system?"

"Well, in my opinion there's too general an idea that most anybody can fill an office provided he has a smart private secretary and a good stenographer."—Washington Star.
