He Got A Tip.

"In my time," said the drummer, "I have got a hundred sure things on the races and never hit it once. Last month I surely thought I was about to strike it at last. I pulled a stranger from in front of a street car, and when he had recovered from the shock he said: 'Mister, I am thankful and want to prove it. Bet your all on Jimmy G. to win at New Orleans tomorrow.' 'Have you got a line on him?' I asked. 'I own him. I not only own him, but I've got it fixed with the owners of the other starters to let him win.' 'Then you must be quite sure about it?' 'Sure? Why, the starter has been fixed and all the jockeys are in, and Jimmy G. will come in it only in a walk.' 'It looked so much like easy money,' said the drummer, 'that I put $50 on, and could hardly wait to get the reports next day.' 'And Jimmy G. came in five lengths ahead?' 'And Jimmy G. came in five lengths ahead?'"

"No, sir, He didn't come in at all. He fell on his nose when half way around the track, and after waiting around for ten minutes for him to get up the other horses had to gallop in to save the honor of the racing fraternity." JOE KERR.
