CHANCE TO WIN PENNANT BEFORE HE WILL RETIRE

Frank Leroy Chance, manager of the Chicago Cubs, is not a nervous wreck; he is not on the verge of mental collapse, and he is not going to retire from the game as manager and return to his home in California. Instead, Frank Chance, the Peerless Leader when his Cubs reigned supreme in the baseball world, is going to continue managing the Cubs until he wins another pennant and a world's championship.

When the Cubs were in the East recently, startling stories were penned that Chance's health had failed him completely; that the old attack of dizzy spells as a result of being "beaten" twenty-four times during his career had returned, and that doctors feared if he did not give up the managerial worries the result might be fatal.

Would Win Pennant Again. "What, me quit?" was Chance's sharp reply to a query asking the truth of the tales that he was going to give way as manager of the Cubs. "Huh, not yet! I'm going to win another National League pennant, beat the American League champion and then maybe I'll step aside."

"I don't think I'll ever go back on first base, though. I tried to play several times since Suggs cracked me on the head, but when I get in there I become excited, can't control myself, and, together with the terrific heat, the dizzy spells return. I'm getting along fine now; my health is as good as could be expected and you can say that I'll manage the Cubs as long as my work is satisfactory to President Murphy."

"Do I look like a fellow who is a nervous wreck? I've been in this steady drill for some time, but they'll never ship me out to California with the Cubs right in this pennant chase. At times I may become nervous and fret, but who wouldn't when you see the umpires rob you right before your race?"

Bean Ball Put Him Out. "I'd be playing today but for stopping so many wild ones with my head. The other day I was talking about it and by actual count I have been 'beaten' that's what you call it. I believe, twenty-four times. The first terrific knock was a few years ago, when Howard Camnitz caught me, and then in April of last year George Suggs finished the job."

Former Army Officer Who Led Attack on Tepic Is Arrested. Special to The Herald. Guadalajara, July 16.—Miguel Guerrero, former lieutenant of the Eight battalion who revolted in the city of Tepic several months ago and took to the hills with eighty men and who later led an attack of 1,500 rebels against the city of Tepic was captured here today at the Cosmopolitan hotel by secret police. Guerrero was registered under the name of Miguel Flores.

YOUTHFUL LEADER OF REBELS IS CAPTURED

It is said that he left the rebel ranks and came here July 4, leaving for Manzanillo to take the steamer at that port. He missed the boat and came back to Guadalajara yesterday. Guerrero is but twenty-two old. After the defeat of his forces at Tepic he is alleged to have been the chief of marauding bands which levied on the country through which they operated. It is stated that he was on his way to Bisbee, Arizona, and that he had obtained a large sum of money through the looting of a bank during a rebel raid.

ESPERANZA IRIS IS NEW OWNER OF ARBEU

Popular Actress Purchases Property for $450,000. Esperanza Iris, the "simpatica" Mexican light opera star, has met with such success in this country that she has decided to remain in the capital and has purchased the Arbeau theater from Porfirio Maceo, at a price said to be $450,000. The first payment of $100,000 is said to have been made. Under the terms of the sale the theater can not pass directly under the control of Señora Iris, as the property is leased by the federal government and the lease has a year to run.

Under the agreement of sale the contract with the federal government will be respected in all its details. At the end of that time the theater will pass into the full control of the new owner and it is understood that the name of the theater will be changed to the "Esperanza Iris."

JOE RIVERS TO BE GIVEN NEW CHANCE AT WOLGAST

JOE RIVERS

Joe Rivers, the Mexican, and Ad Wolgast, the champion lightweight, will meet in a final battle in Los Angeles on Labor day. Followers of the Mexican claim their favorite was robbed of the decision in the recent bout with the champion, and they believe if Rivers is given another chance he will knock out Wolgast. On the other hand, Ad thinks Rivers will be given the count of ten in much quicker fashion when they meet again. After a furious mixup in the thirteenth round of the recent fight between the pair the two men were on the floor. Referee Welsh was puzzled as to what to do. He assisted Wolgast to his feet and began a count of ten over Rivers. Many experts figure Welsh should have ordered the men to continue.

RIGHT MAN DOES NOT GET CREDIT

Reason for Winning Team's Success Is Often Misunderstood. Why is it that with every winning ball club, a man not actively identified with the team as a player is picked as the reason for the team's success? Oftentimes the players, to whom the success really belongs and who are responsible for victories or defeats are entirely forgotten.

Remember, last year thousands of people thought it was Arlie Latham, with his clownish coaching, that gave the Giants the National League pennant. Strange as it may seem, Arlie was almost forgotten during the slaughter of the Giants in the world's series, and this spring was released. "Topsy" Harstel and Harry Davis were given almost as much credit as Connie Mack for the success of the Athletics the last two years. Their wise coaching, signal tipping, etc., were pointed out as invaluable for the Mackmen. But Cornelius himself must not have thought them indispensable, for they were allowed to go last winter. When the Cincinnati Reds started out like a house afire this spring, we were told that it was the coaching of the pitchers by Heinie Peltz which was working wonders with the club. When the Reds hit the toboggan, however, Heinie was all but forgotten. The White Sox in the American League showed unexpected strength early in the season. The sagacious counsel of "Eli" Gleason, his tactics on the coaching line, were of course, responsible. Little was said of the wonderful box work of Lange and Walsh, or the hitting of the outfield, the play of Weaver at short and Zeider at first. Gleason was the hero.
